“Historic Architecture of Pennsylvania”

Explore nearly 300 years and 36 styles of American architecture through historic Pennsylvania buildings from Adams, Cumberland, Dauphin, Lancaster, Lebanon and York counties.

Atglen P.A. — Nestled among the rolling hills of South Central Pennsylvania, six counties – Adams, Cumberland, Dauphin, Lancaster, Lebanon, York – are home to more than three centuries of history and architecture. Beginning with early eighteenth century buildings, almost every style of American architecture is featured in the region’s mid-sized cities, charming towns, and quaint villages. Susquehanna Valley buildings showcase excellent examples of Colonial, Early Republic, Victorian, and twentieth-century architectural movements. Featured are educational narratives of three dozen styles as well as special sections on a variety of building types, including farmers’ markets and train stations, all brought to life by more than 180 full-color photos. Join author and photographer Scott D. Butcher on an enlightening tour featuring the best of American architecture as seen through the eyes of the region’s architects and builders.

Scott D. Butcher, FSMPS, CPSM, is a writer, photographer, and marketing professional who resides in York, PA.
